

How does it help me and my project?

For a currency to be efficient, it needs to be used by thousands of people who are using it to exchange goods and services. This is only a start and there are few services offered by the members of the Ventureo network, but as more and more organizations will join, the network will grow, the quantity of money inside the net work will grow and the each participant will thrive. Early early participant will probably have to hold their Ventureo into their electronic wallet for a while, until 1,000 organizations join the network.
